

GIST UPDATE

Take Advantage of our New Offers and Support Options

GIST Version 1.0.2

Version 1.0.2 of GIST is ready to download and install

If you've registered your copy of GIST and haven't received upgrade instructions, please e-mail us at info@gistplan.com. The improvements in GIST 1.0.2 are the direct results of feedback from SIM professional developers. Please continue to suggest future enhancements so that we can better serve your teaching and professional development needs.

GIST User's Guide

GIST User's Guide is now available online

The User's Guide provides step-by-step instructions for all GIST functions, and is a good preview of the software's capabilities and requirements for schools' key decision makers. You can download the full-length GIST User's Guide at gistplan.com.

GIST District and School License Discounts

Offering Multi-User licenses for GIST

Districts and schools can now purchase multi-user licenses for GIST. A school can receive one copy of GIST for each ten teachers. The school may distribute these copies for use at school or home, or install the software on a local network. This multi-user license will allow more flexibility at the school site, and teachers won't have to purchase the software for separate use away from school.

In addition, we are currently offering an Early Adopters Discount on GIST multi-user licenses. This special opportunity offers significant savings over the regular GIST retail price. Information on the Early Adopters Discount can be found in this mailer or at gistplan.com. For multi-user license pricing larger than 200 units, please contact us directly.

GIST 120-Day Free Trial Version

Introducing a New GIST Trial Version

We are excited to share our new 120-day free trial version! This version is available for distribution by SIM Professional Developers who have attended a GIST professional development orientation session at a SIM national or regional update.

SIM Professional Developers can use this trial version of GIST to demonstrate to key administrators and teachers how GIST can help teachers improve learning. We ask that this version be shared with those teachers who have been provided appropriate professional development in Content Enhancement and are ready for GIST. This trial version allows teachers to immediately access GIST and design templates, presentations and other learning devices.

To access the free trial version, contact us either by phone at 888.396.5106 or info@gistplan.com. We will e-mail a link to the targeted teacher or administrator to access the trial software.
